

UKSSH IS PREMIER CHOICE FOR TEMPORARY FIRE ESCAPE

Temporary fire escapes are, arguably, the ultimate test for temporary staircases: If they are ever called in to action the footfall will be far from predictable – in the worst-case scenario, having to handle a sudden stampede of terrified people.

For peace of mind and to comply with the (rightly) rigorous regulations, safety and security managers look for a combination of the best product and a team that fully understands the requirements and who will supply and deliver compliant designs and excellent on-site support – and more and more companies are turning to UK System Scaffold Hire.

UKSSH have proved time and time again that they are the country's leading experts in supplying the HAKI Public Staircase which provides safe, fast and efficient solutions for clients requiring temporary fire escapes. Adaptable to suit a number of designs and configurations, the HAKI Public Access Stair is designed in full compliance with the Building Regulations, delivering safe working loads up to 7.5kn/m^2 and features unique tamper proof locking devices to ensure maximum safety and non-slip treads.
